

CAN YOU AFFORD NOT TO CONSIDER COVER?

Being a self-employed therapist, you have several things to deal with at any one time, from keeping client appointments to staying on top of accounts. But have you ever considered what you would do if you couldn't work? Could you afford to pay for those essential purchases for day to day living, or provide for your family if you were unable to work due to injury or a newly diagnosed medical condition, with no sick pay to fall back on?

If this happened, Usay Compare, working with Towergate insurance, could put in place an affordable Income Protection policy to avoid you being in this situation. The policy would pay out a proportion of your monthly income, offering peace of mind and security against lost earnings until you were able to work again; something to consider, especially if you are under 60.

What if that medical condition was terminal?

Usay Compare could arrange a tailored Critical-Illness policy, paying you a tax-free lump sum if diagnosed with a critical illness during the policy term, however long you decided that length to be. Such conditions as cancer, stroke, heart attack, or a life changing disability could all be covered under Critical-Illness cover.

And, what if the worst were to happen?

Life Insurance would work independently, whether you had critical-illness in place or not. Usay Compare could arrange Life Insurance which would pay out a tax-free lump sum if you should die within the policy term, again, the length of the term and sum-assured decided by you. Some policies could even pay out early if you were diagnosed with a terminal illness, where you were only expected to live less than a year.
